What is it about?

Nowadays, children need extraordinary empathetic teachers. A manageable, structured school-day routine including rituals and clearly set limits are essential for living together as a community.

During form teachers periods, students' subjects are treated and the class representatives participate actively in order to realize projects at school.

Our Team.

A school is only as good as its teachers. Doing regular work shadowing and constant training we aim at improving every day in order to prepare our school and your children for the digital world of tomorrow.

For being able to face the multiple challenges of school life and school days, our team is supported by special needs educators and social workers. Their expert knowledge reinforce the class communities and help to positively convoy and construct group dynamics.

Pulling together.

A regular exchange of information between teachers and parents is an essential part of our school concept.

Weekly feedback given via the student's personal diary and regular personal information meetings keep you updated on your child's personal and academic development.

Together, we achieve our goals.
